Healthcare Scenarios in Developmental Disability Medicine

CDROM
an interactive teaching resource

Healthcare Scenarios in Developmental Disability Medicine is an interactive multimedia resource designed to support the development of positive attitudes towards people with a disability and provide users with information in skill and knowledge domains in relation to Developmental Disability Medicine.

Who is it for?

This teaching resource has been produced for medical practitioners and undergraduate medical students. Clinicians and students in other health professions will also find it relevant and useful.

This CDROM focuses on four people – Jacqui, Colin, Sara and Geoff – who provide a personal context for student learning.

Four learning pathways, including learning objectives and self-assessment exercises, have been built around Video Scenarios of medical consultations with each person.

An accompanying Knowledge Base contains information in the following areas:

- Overview of Developmental Disability
- General Issues in Healthcare
- Communication
- Mental Health and Illness
- Issues for Carers and Families

Complementary sections include:

- Glossary
- Resources
- PDF files of useful resources including the Personal Health Record and booklets to guide management of menstruation.
